Our first two guest at the opening! And ironically one looks like he could be my damn cousin. Lol

The restaurant, Chicken+Beer, is named after Bridges's third album. It features Southern comfort food, local beers and "an ambient cool vibe from the playlist to the bold wall art," according to a release from Jackmont Hospitality.

Design elements include red metal stools at hightop tables, flat screen televisions and liquor displays. The restaurant also has large windows overlooking an airport jetway.

The restaurant's design elements were created in partnership with Green Olive Media.
